THPRD UNVEILS NEW COMPREHENSIVE TRAILS MAP
OFFERING DIRECTIONS, LENGTH AND KEY FEATURES

The Tualatin Hills Park & Recreation District has produced a new trails map, providing important information on walking, running and bicycling routes across the entire 50-square-mile district.

On one side, the foldout map showcases an overview of the trails, including surface type, cycling opportunities, rail lines, parks, libraries and THPRD facilities. The opposite side features major segments of the regional trail system that are within the Park District. It offers directions to each trailhead, length, interesting loops, key features and details about connecting neighborhoods.

“The map will help patrons find some of the hidden treasures in our community,” said Bruce Barbarasch, superintendent of Natural Resources and Trails Management. “We also hope it will give people new perspectives and options about how they can get from point A to point B.”

The map is available at all THPRD patron facilities, area libraries, local hotels, the outdoor store REI at Tanasbourne, the Beaverton Chamber of Commerce office, and the Washington County Visitors Association office. A printable version is online at www.thprd.org/nature/trails.cfm. For more information, call 503/629-6350.

The map was produced by the district’s Natural Resources and Trails Management Department with a grant from the Washington County Visitors Association (www.wcva.org).

Formed in 1955, THPRD is the largest special park district in Oregon, spanning about 50 square miles and serving more than 200,000 residents in the greater Beaverton area.
area. The district provides year-round recreational and educational opportunities for people of all ages. Offerings include a wide variety of classes and more than 200 park sites, 60 miles of trails, eight swim centers, six recreation centers, and 1,300 acres of nature preserve.
